

STANBURY LEADER
OF MASONIC LEAGUEClean Sweep Over Harmony
Breaks Tie for First Place
With Columbia Lodge.

LAFAYETTE IS SET BACK

Led Washington's Biggest Bowling Organization Until Columbia Grabbed Three.

Harvey T. Rogers, captain of the Stanbury quint in the Masonic League, wanted to win three games from Harmony Lodge last night, so he hauled out two of his stars, Harry Halley, and Harry Stanford. They harried the Harmonians so successfully, with King, Borden, and Elemen, that Rogers was gratified.

As a result Stanbury tops the standing in Washington's biggest bowling organization. When the team entered its match with Harmony, a tie for first place existed, Columbia sharing honors with Stanbury. Today the standing is Stanbury, won 51, lost 2; Columbia, won 48, lost 12.

It was a close battle all the way. Stanbury won the first game 498 to 465, the second by only two pins, 522 to 520, and the third 532 to 533. King led the Stanburians in total pins with 356.

Four teams of the Masonic League are in the pennant scrap at present. Lafayette and Harmony closely follow Stanbury and Columbia.

Receives a Setback.
Lafayette was leading until Columbia took a fall out of the team by scoring a clean sweep, in which one game was gained by a margin of two maps. Previous to this match Lafayette set a league record by toppling 1,711 pins.

Columbia is the holder of a unique record for the Masonic circuit as the result of its victory over Lafayette, in that its members rolled all games above 100.

FIGHT ON WASTE EXTENDED TO COAL TO DRAMA LEAGUE

Housekeepers' Alliance Hears Copies of Plays, Telephone, and How to Economize in Using Furnace.

"Don't keep your damper and drafts wide open if you only need a slow fire, but adjust them to just the degree needed."

"Don't fill up the fire-box every time you put on coal. A heavy firing may smother the fire for a time and prevent your getting quick heat when needed."

"Don't fail to see that you have a good box of coals at end of the fire over night. Cover the one and with a good fresh covering of coal and adjust the drafts to barely keep it going."

"Don't force a fire, as much waste occurs under these conditions. 'Don't allow ashes to accumulate in the ash pit and obstruct the flow of air to the under side of the grates, or some of the bars may be warped or burned.'

"Don't make a serious disturbance of the make fuel in the fire pot by stirring with a bar, and shake out ashes only until a bright light becomes visible in the ash pit."

Advice to Housekeepers.
These are a few of the "Don'ts" given before the Housekeepers' Alliance at their weekly meeting yesterday in the Theodorus Bailey Myers Mason house, 1606 Sixteenth street northwest, by S. B. Flagg, fuel engineer in the United States Bureau of Mines.

The speech was in accordance with a war on waste, being waged by the Housekeepers' Alliance, who is an expert on fuel conservation. He told of the "Don'ts" for housekeepers, in regard to having their fuel.

"Only once before in the history of the country has there been such a shortage of coal," said Mr. Flagg, referring to the strikes among the mine workers in 1902 and the year following.

Enormous Increase.
"Today, although there is no trouble among the mine workers, and in spite of the large developments in bituminous mining, coal is selling at prices two and three times as much as it brought a few months ago."

Mrs. Flora McDonald Thompson, an official of the Housekeepers' Alliance, brought up the question of a system of centralized heating for Washington. The manner of delivering coal for domestic use was also criticized by Mrs. Thompson. "Business efficiency generally stops outside the kitchen door," she said.

MAN WHO FORGOT SHOWN
James May, Jr.

"The Man Who Forgot" was seen in motion picture films at the National Press Club last evening, with Robert Warwick in the title role, through the courtesy of the World Film Corporation.

This is the story written by James May, Jr., and which became one of the most popular novels in recent years. Mr. May formerly was a writer on The Washington Times, and is now the writer of a voluminous series of magazine stories and books of fiction.

It is a gripping story of the fight made and won by John Smith, for nation-wide prohibition and the hand of Edith Mallon, daughter of a United States Senator.

Some of the best scenes are laid in the National Capital.

CANTRILL IS JUST "A PLAIN FARMER"

But He Made History When He Forced Order for Inquiry of "Leak."

"I'm no lawyer, and I'm no orator. I'm just a plain farmer from Kentucky, but here's what I think."

In this wise James Campbell Cantrill, Congressman from the Seventh District of Kentucky, began a speech that produced one of the most sensational climaxes that has been staged in Congress for a long time.

Voted Against Majority.
Congressman Cantrill, long, lean, and lanky, is a Democratic member of the Rules Committee of the House. But unlike the other Democratic members of that body, he did not vote for the majority report recommending that the investigation into the alleged "leak" on the President's note be indefinitely put out of the way.

Mr. Cantrill has not been in the habit of making speeches in the House, despite the fact that he has served in four Congresses. Usually he is a man of few words.

But what he said in that particular speech was sufficient to disrupt the Democratic majority completely and to stampede the entire House into overthrowing the majority report of the committee.

It is true that Mr. Cantrill is no lawyer, but he was brought up in the atmosphere of the law of his father, James E. Cantrill, was the judge who sat in the trial of Caleb Powers. Most of his forebears were lawyers.

Quick To Grasp Essentials.
And to Farmer Cantrill has fallen the legacy of a mind quick to grasp the essentials of any situation and a logic, however, roughly spoken, that is usually invincible.

He hails from the richest blue-grass section of Kentucky, and is a real farmer. Ten years ago he was one of the chief organizers of the tobacco growers of his State, and figured prominently in the exploits of the so-called "night riders."

He is a fighter through and through, and doesn't know the first sensation of fear. He showed that yesterday when he defied the leaders of his party and forced them to accept his views.

HIGH SCHOOL DEDICATION.
Richard T. Greener, the first graduate of the Howard University, and principal of the Colored High School here in 1873-74, will be one of the speakers at the formal dedication of Dunbar High School Monday night.

Other speakers Monday night will be Justice Siddons, of the District Supreme Court, the Rev. John Van Schalk, Jr., president of the Board of Education; Corralle Franklin Cook, member of the board; Superintendent Thurston, Assistant Superintendent Roscoe Bruce, in charge of colored schools; Dr. W. E. DeBois, and Archibald H. Grimke.

TAILOR SUES FOR $5,000.
Louis Dinowitz, through his attorney, Alvin L. Newmyer and William P. Frost has instituted suit in the District Supreme Court to recover $5,000 damages from William C. Bowles and Slye and Watson, a corporation. The plaintiff avers he rented a shop in the Madrid apartments, 2300 Eighteenth street northwest to conduct a tailoring business. He declares that certain privileges have been abridged, and that his business has suffered thereby.
